SOLDIER BONUS TO BE RUSHED THROUGH HOUSE ON THURSDAY

Arrangement Is Made
With Speaker Whereby
Only 4 Hours Debate
Will Be Permitted.

RULES SUSPENDED

Washington, D. C., Mar. 21.—The soldier bonus bill will be shoved through the House Thursday under suspension of the rules with four hours debate, under an arrangement made today by Speaker Gillett and Chairman Campbell of the Rules Committee. Under this arrangement the bill will be jammed through without amendment and without sending it back to the Ways and Means Committee. The only difference between this method and the method which the bonus advocates were hoping to take up yesterday, is the length of debate. The original gag plan would have given only twenty minutes discussion. This new arrangement will permit two hours debate for advocates of the measure and two hours for its opponents. A vote on the passage will then be taken.

BASEBALL FANS IN ENTHUSIASTIC MEET HERE LAST NIGHT

Pursuant to a call for a baseball meeting issued by Pres. O'Laughlin of the C. C. A. A., for the election of officers and other business to come before the association, the meeting was held at the Jordan hotel last evening and was exceptionally well attended. Baseball fans are determined that we shall have baseball and it only remains for the association to work out a plan that will be in harmony with industrial conditions. At the election Mr. A. Wright Bigler was voted President and John Woods, Vice President. The following directors were named: A. Mitchell Chase, John C. Arnold, J. D. Connelly, Dr. A. D. Cowdrick, Harry Healy, Cecil E. Wilson, G. Albert Stewart, S. L. Warner and A. K. Wright.

Plans for a team were discussed and many voiced the opinion that Clearfield could not support an all paid team this year. A suggestion that met with much favor was the employment of a manager coach who would train a local team. A meeting of the new officers and directors will be called in the near future at which definite plans will be made.

Mrs. Leo White of Tyrone who has been a surgical patient at the Clearfield hospital returned to her home today.

CROW RETIRES FROM SENATORIAL RACE

Pittsburgh, March 20.—U. S. Senator William E. Crow, who was appointed to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Philander Knox, tonight formally announced his withdrawal as a candidate to succeed himself at the Republican Primaries Election next May. Senator Crow, who has been ill in a hospital here for several months, gave as the cause of his withdrawal from the race his continued ill-health.

Livestock Association Launches Calf, Pig and Poultry Club Plan Of Encouraging Youth On Farms

The semi-annual meeting of the Stock Growers Auxiliary Association of Clearfield County, of which all the banks of Clearfield County are members, held a meeting yesterday at the Hotel Dimeling, Clearfield, at which time some unusually interesting addresses were made and some important business transacted. One of the most important matters discussed was that in regard to the formation of calf, pig and poultry clubs throughout the county among the young people, as well as to assist farmers in the purchase of pure-bred livestock. These two points were stressed by the people present and all energies will be devoted towards this purpose.

Among the prominent state leaders in agriculture who were present were State Secretary of Agriculture Fred Rasmussen, of Harrisburg; Dean Watts, of Pennsylvania State College; Dr. Havner, of State College; Peter Gearhart, president of the Farm Bureau; County Agent Sterrett J. E. Kester, editor of the Pennsylvania Farmer, Philadelphia; and J. Frank Rehfuess, of the department of statistics and research, Federal Reserve Bank, Philadelphia.

Addresses were given by practically all of the representatives present. The addresses of Secretary Rasmussen and Dean Watts were of particular moment and reflected conditions in Clearfield County, in an agricultural way. Secretary Rasmussen stated that the future wealth of Clearfield County depended largely upon the establishment of the agricultural interests on a firmer foundation, the basis of which in his judgement, should be the putting in of pure bred livestock on all farms. He pointed out that the development of poultry was much ahead of the cattle branch, the monetary value of poultry and eggs in this county averaging a half million dollars annually. But the speaker stated, this branch of agriculture should be greatly developed in this county.

Mr. Rasmussen stated that the raising of dairy cattle and beef cattle should receive much more attention than at the present time. He pointed out the great benefits that are to be derived from replacements of cattle.

It was pointed out by the speaker that at the present time there are only three hogs to each farm in the county and that the average farmer's family will consume these hogs leaving none for selling to urban population. He urged strongly the need for development of the hog industry, stating that the profits thus derived are important to the wealth of any county.

Dean Watts made the interesting observation that Clearfield County is not raising sufficient products to feed itself. If Clearfield County were suddenly thrown upon its own resources the people of the county would find themselves badly in want of certain products. For instance, he said, this county does not supply nearly sufficient butter for its own needs. He emphasized the fact that this is a condition that should not exist, as the land of this county is admirably adapted to the grazing of dairy cattle. It is a land that needs scientific treatment to get the maximum results, but these results can readily be attained by exercising care and judgment.

All the authorities present heartily commended the efforts that are being put forward by the banks of the county in regard to the development of agriculture, pointing out that this intensive movement is vitally necessary to the future growth of the county.

The association went on record as favorably to a chattel mortgage law pertaining to livestock and machinery and a pure bred sire law for Pennsylvania.

The deliberations were presided over by M. I. McCraight of DuBois and between the two sessions, the representatives present, about thirty in number, were guests at a luncheon given by the banks of DuBois.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic and important that has taken place in the county for some time, and it is believed will be of immeasurable value in building up the future development of the agricultural interests in Clearfield County.

President McCraight appointed an executive committee consisting of: H. B. Powell, Chairman; Walter Stewart and Fred Brown, representing the Live Stock Auxiliary Association, together with Peter Gearhart, President of the Farm Bureau, and W. C. Sterrett, County Agent and representative of the extension, department of State College, to formulate a definite policy by which the Live Stock Auxiliary Association and the Farm Bureau might co-operate in bringing in pure breeds.

Secretary Rasmussen said the banks would be willing to extend credit for the purchase of purebred livestock for a longer period than four to six months as is common in other lines of business. The banks signified their willingness to do this and promised to renew the notes from time to time.

Head Of Leonardson Co. Says Dollar Day Great Local Institution

Is this going to be as great a Dollar Day as we have ever had?

In the language of the street, "She sure do!"

Hardly a store in the city but what is going ahead with their plans for the greatest day this city has ever seen. Everywhere are the merchants scratching their heads and wondering "Can I possibly sell this for a Dollar?" or "Well, I'm not going to make a cent on that but I'm going to sell it for a Dollar on Friday."

Such is the spirit in which Clearfield merchants are entering into the 1922 Spring Dollar Day. From the "boss" down to the delivery boys, everybody is an enthusiastic about the event as they possibly can be and it bodes well for the folks who are planning on taking in the event.

In a talk with the Progress Adman, Mr. A. W. Leonardson, of the A. W. Leonardson Company said:

"Dollar Day was no new thing at this store long before the event, became a general movement with Clearfield stores. Long about 1916, we found there was a way to give our buying public something in the way of an extra bargain event and we made the Dollar famous by being the first store in this city to inaugurate the day.

Since then it has become general throughout the city and has become a fixed event in Clearfield's selling history. It has become a permanent institution, through the general high

WORLD'S BEST TYPIST IN TOWN

Miss Bessie Friedman, champion typist of the world, dropped into the Commercial Club meeting last evening, with her trusty Underwood under her arm and gave a demonstration of speed and skill that astounded those present. She took direct dictation from the speaker of the evening, a rapid speaker and gave him a typewritten copy of his speech at the finish. It was nearly perfect. Miss Friedman's speed is 132 perfect words per minute and 142 net words per minute for one hour in World's Typewriter Championship Contest.

Resurfacing Of Streets In The Business Section Is Unpopular Council Will Defer The Paving

Council Swamped With Delegations Of People
Interested In Widening Of Streets Who Ask
That Temporary Improvements Be Not Made

COLORED RESIDENTS PLEDGE HELP IN RIDDING CITY OF UNDESIRABLES

The Borough Council held a hectic session at the Council chamber last evening and before the session was over entertained about thirty or forty guests, the said guests being visiting taxpayers, who were either objecting to something that was scheduled to be done or else asking that something be done that was not on council's immediate program.

The chief concern of the visitors was the project looking to the resurfacing with asphalt of three blocks on Second and three on Market street in the centre of town. The brick paving in the sections named is in bad shape and has been in such condition for several years past and the Highway Department of Council thought it necessary to do something to relieve the condition. They were limited as to funds, by reason of the fact that the borough is within a few thousand dollars of its constitutional debt limit, and believing these important streets named could be resurfaced with asphalt and placed in satisfactory condition thereby until such time as sufficient funds were available with which to permanently improve the street, recommended the resurfacing at the meeting of Council on March 6th.

Many of the residents along the streets at once offered their objections to the plan and asked that nothing be done on the street until Council was able to repave it with brick and widen both streets through the business district from its present 30 feet to a 40 foot driveway. The committee of business men was headed by A. E. Leitinger, Fred Kerr, A. D. Bigler, Hobart Callahan, Louis Shapiro and many others. Ex-Judge Allison O. Smith was their spokesman. They all counseled delay in the work of improving these streets, under the circumstances, and their efforts were further augmented from the Commercial Club headed by A. M. Pearce, while letters protesting against the work at this time was read from A. B. Reed and C. T. Kurtz.

VARIED ATHLETICS, WITH CITY LEAGUE FOR BASEBALL, IS PROGRAM OUTLINED BY THE COMMUNITY SERVICE MEETING

Clearfield Community Service got off to a flying start at the well attended meeting of the Invitation Committee at the High School yesterday afternoon 'Mr. G. E. Zerfoss presided as temporary chairman, and W. W. Smith, Esq., was chosen temporary secretary.

In the discussion of the program to be developed here during the spring and summer, emphasis was placed upon the value of playgrounds in the building of character and good habits among the children with the consequent benefit to their school work in the Autumn. The formation of amateur leagues in baseball, volley ball and other games was stressed in connection with the facilities of the Fair Grounds. The necessity for greater recreational opportunities for girls was felt as well as the possibilities for the development of work along citizenship and neighborhood lines.

Enthusiastic appreciation of the possibilities of such a program was shown, and the desire was evident that the organization should be effected as soon as possible in order that activities might begin. The training of volunteer leaders for social occasions as well as for playgrounds, the formation of baseball leagues, and a horse shoe pitching tournament are among the early program items. It is aimed to have the activities include opportunities for every man and woman and girl and boy in Clearfield.

Action was taken to enlarge the group, and a committee was appointed to draw up a constitution and nominate officers for the permanent organization to be formed at the next meeting, which is planned for the latter part of this week.

REV. HARTMAN DIED YESTERDAY EVENING AT TYRONE HOSPITAL

The death of Rev. W. W. Hartman pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, whose serious illness was mentioned in The Progress last evening, occurred at the Ward House, Tyrone, at 5 o'clock last evening.

Funeral services will be held in the First Methodist Church at Tyrone on Wednesday morning at 10:45 o'clock. Dr. A. S. Fasic will officiate. Burial will take place at Bloomsburg Thursday.

The upshot of the matter was that after President of Council Rosser had explained the situation financially and otherwise, from Council's standpoint, the matter of resurfacing these streets was laid upon the table, and the money available at this time for street repairs will be used elsewhere.

Rev. J. W. Mason and a delegation of respectable colored people were present, as Rev. Mason put it, to enter a complaint and seek assistance. The reverend gentleman complained bitterly against the actions of several colored families in East End and Wrigley Addition, stating that they were disgracing the decent colored people of the community and they wanted the authorities to take them in charge. A list of the places or families were supplied and Burgess Kittlerberger instructed his police to look into the matter and when any of these persons violated the law again the county authorities will be asked to railroad them out of the county.

A. B. Reed was present representing the Shade Tree Commission and asked that an appropriation of $600 be granted for the purchase of trees etc. The same was granted.

The police salary question was again brought before Council when Chairman Beahan of the Police Committee reported that his committee had taken the matter of police protection up with Burgess Kittlerberger who was of the opinion that he could properly police the town with two men, and they therefore recommended that but two men be employed after April 1st and that the salary of the Chief of Police be fixed at $130 and that of Assistant $120 per month. The recommendation was unanimously agreed to.

Chairman Jay of the Sewer Committee presented a recommendation of that committee that the sanitary sewer on Bigler avenue be completed

COMMERCIAL CLUB SHOWS INTEREST IN AGRICULTURE

M. S. McDowell, Of
State College, Speaks
To Club At Regular Meeting Last Evening.

MASTERLY ORATOR

A wonderfully enthusiastic crowd of Commercialites greeted M. S. McDowell, Chief of the Penn State College Extension Department last evening and the smooth running organization of the club made it possible to transact a myriad of business matters and still hear some mighty good speeches. For entertainment President Warner had the Elyria singers with Miss Dorothy Woodward presiding at the piano and prior to the regular business and principal address of the evening short talks were given by Superintendent Zerfoss, Judge A. O. Smith, Mr. Wright of the State College faculty and others.

In the business session an amendment to the by laws was read which will increase the number of directors to eight with over-lapping terms which will insure seasoned officers on the board at all times. Wm. P. Sheeder of the Civic Affairs committee reported on his findings on the resurfacing of Second and Market streets and out of this report came the appointment of a committee of fifteen who waited on council for information, concerning same. Chief Kreher of the Fire Department was present and outlined the needs of the Clearfield Fire Department. On motion of G. Albert Stewart, passed, the club endorsed the program outlined by Chief Kreher and will stand back of whatever method can be devised to put our fire fighting equipment in good shape. The club also put its stamp of approval on the Legion Fourth of July celebration, expressing the belief that it could not be in better hands.

About ninety members and guests greeted the principle speaker of the evening, Mr. M. S. McDowell of the faculty of State College. Mr. McDowell proved a very interesting speaker and another issue of this paper will be required to print his entire speech. Today we can only draw a few poignant facts from it. He threatened to let a few cats out of the bag about John Gordon and a lot of the other fellows from Clearfield who used to make the lives of the Centre County farmers unpleasant but distasteful to the pleasure of the aforesaid John. Saying that he wished to talk particularly of the Extension work he added:

"I would say a word regarding the college as a whole. You have read of the difficulties that have been met in admitting students. Last year over 9000 students were turned away. This was due to lack of facilities and lack of money, before the young man who wish to come there can get it. Your boys and girls were possibly among those turned away. The student body has almost doubled in years. "It is interesting to note that business people are interested in agriculture. I could note in coming here an atmosphere that was very pleasing. I know from what has been observed of your interest in civic affairs, that this is a live institution, a live club."

The attitude of the farmer has changed tremendously so far as his own business is concerned. The attitude of business men has changed tremendously within the last decade. It is a good thing because the business men must be interested in agriculture. The men in industry must have food at a reasonable cost to feed those men and the people who are growing that food must have a reasonable profit on the material which they grow. The interest is mutual. The farmer is situated in such a way that he cannot do some of the things that large manufacturers can do. The farmer is an individualist and cannot undertake many of the things that large corporations can do, of working out a system that makes for

CURWENSVILLE

A number of Clearfield motorists drove through our town on Sunday in such a manner as to defy all traffic laws. We are glad to have our neighbors visit our town, but their utter defiance of traffic regulations has been severely criticised. We trust it will be unnecessary to make a personal matter of it.

Wm. L. Holden moved his family to Clearfield yesterday. Mr. Holden was born and reared in Curwensville and we regret to see our native sons leave town, but Mr. Holden's business required his presence in Clearfield, where he has built a home. So we wish them joy and success in their home.

Mrs. Dean Bloom came up from Clearfield on Monday and spent the day with Mrs. Frank Bloom, who is quite ill with pneumonia.

Harry Leib of York County, formerly a member of "Leib Brothers, Drug-gists", came over from Tyrone, where he has been attending conference, and spent Sunday with his brother Mr. J. Lewis Leib and family.

Miss Thelma Bloom is visiting her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bloom on Pine Street.

WINBURNE

Winburne sustained a sad shock by the death of Mrs. Martha Borden Scott, wife of James Scott, which took place at her home here the evening of March 18th. She had been enjoying her usual good health till only a week previously when she became ill with influenza which developed into pneumonia. Mrs. Scott was aged thirty-six and spent most of her life in Tioga County. About five years ago she came with her family to reside in Winburne and during that time she made a host of friends who loved her dearly and now miss her sorely. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. Much sympathy is extended to her husband, her son James aged fourteen and little daughter Helen aged eight, in their trying bereavement. She is also survived by her father and mother, one brother and one sister. Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday evening at which Rev. Benjamin Thomas officiated and interment took place at Holliday, Tioga Co.

By the sad death Saturday, March 18th, at her home in Lansce, of Mrs. Anna Peterson Edlund, wife of Henry Edlund, one of our best known and most beloved young women has been removed from our midst. She had suffered from pneumonia with complications, for about two weeks and a half. Possessed of the most beautiful Christian character and the sunniest disposition, she spread an influence for good wherever she went. Mrs. Edlund was a devoted wife and mother and a faithful member of the Swedish Lutheran church of Lansce. Her husband and one daughter Mil- dred aged six, also her mother, Mrs. Simon Nolan of Williamsport, two sisters, Mrs. Charles Force, of Lansce and Miss Theresa Peters, of Williamsport and one brother John of Wil- liamsport survive to mourn her de- mise. Funeral services will be held at the Lutheran church Lansce, with burial at Lansce cemetery. Tuesday afternoon March 21, at 2 o'clock.

Robert Newcomb, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Bituminous Mutual Insurance Co., of Huntingdon, was a business visitor to our town one day last week and called on old friends.

W. A. Dukeman is in the Cottage State Hospital receiving treatment and his satisfactory progress is re- ported.

Mr. and Mrs. Temperance Slinger have gone to Barnesboro to attend the funeral of their niece.

Mrs. Alma Jacobson is home from Pittsburgh to be with her mother who we are sorry to say, is unwell.

Miss Aletta Phoenix has accepted a position in Philipsburg and went there Friday to start her new work.

The members of the Methodist Aid Society had a very happy time Wed- nesday at the home of Mrs. G. V. Hall when they combined work with pleasure and quitted while they cele- brated the birthday of their hostess. All were able to do justice to the ex- cellent birthday dinner.

Rev. William Taylor of Lewisburg arrived here Monday and accompan- ied by his sister Mrs. Frank Butler journeyed to Glen Richey to visit home folks.

Mrs. Brian Connacher and small son, of Patton, were here last week and kept house for her mother Mrs. Lewis Scott who accompanied her sister Mrs. Borden to Holliday. Mrs. Scott returned home Friday evening.

Mrs. Charles Mons and daughter Rea, of Munson, spent Saturday visiting friends here.

The two quart "Wear-Ever" Pudding Pan was selected for this DEMONSTRATION offer because due to its many and varied uses, it will be in constant service. It will have a better chance of proving the superior qualities of "Wear-Ever" than would a utensil of limited use.
Like all "Wear-Ever" utensils, this Pudding Pan heats quickly and evenly, and once heated, it maintains a cooking temperature over a REDUCED flame, thus saving FUEL.
Use the "Wear-Ever" Pudding Pan for baking chicken pies, oyster pies, deep apple pies, escalloped potatoes, puddings and for making bread and ginger bread. Use it for poaching eggs, for heating soup, for making sauces. Crisp the break- fast food in it. Use it inverted for keeping griddle cakes hot. Mold gelatin in it. Stew fruits in it. Use it in your roaster or on top of a sauce pan for steaming vegetables or pud- dings. Use it in your refrigerator and save your dishes. Use it for the many odd cooking jobs for which no other utensil seems to be adapted. Try it any way you like—baking, boiling, stewing, and even frying. See how well it meets all requirements. ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The Borough Council was besieged at its meeting last evening by about thirty of the leading business men of the town who were present to protest against the proposed asphaltum resurfacing of the two main streets of the town. The burden of the remarks of every one of the delegation to speak was to the effect that Market and Second streets should be made ten feet wider. In discussing the present width of the street all said the driveway was fixed at 30 feet in width purely as a financial proposition, or because of lack of funds on the part of the borough. That is the very same proposition Council is up against right now. Lack of finances. The present valuation of the borough for taxing purposes is $3,191,984. The constitution of Pennsylvania allows a municipality to incur debt to within seven per cent of the total assessed valuation which would allow Clearfield a bonded debt of $223,438. As a matter of fact the present bonded indebtedness of the borough is in round numbers an even $200,000. Of this amount $180,000 has been incurred since 1914 and was utilized in paving Martin and Spruce streets. Sanitary Rurt, repaving Daisy, Nichols, part of Fourth, South Second, Third, streets and Fourth street relief drain.

Of the $200,000 bonded debt there is approximately $13,000 authorized but not issued, and it was out of this fund the proposed resurfacing of Second and Market streets was to be done. Council has had many complaints regarding the condition of Second and Market streets and spends several hundred dollars each year patching this paving. It is pretty nearly all patches now and can't stand the far much longer, but as the business men of the town feel it would not be good business to repave these streets now Council has agreed to accede to their wishes and will, no doubt be called upon to utilize all available funds on the repaving of Turnpike avenue, which is now again in an almost impassable condition.

It will no doubt be news to many Clearfield taxpayers to learn that the face of the annual borough duplicate calls for $28,727.85. Of this amount the treasurer's percentage exonerations, etc., cut the amount down to approximately $25,000. For this $25,000 Council operates your municipality, furnishes police and fire protection, finances Board of health, Shade Tree Commission and kindred civic activities, repairs your streets, builds your sewers and keeps your municipal house in order. In fact it represents the smallest item of your public expenditure. This will be seen when it is shown that while Clearfield taxpayers pay in $25,000 to run their borough; $7,000 for light and water and $10,000 to redeem improvement bonds and pay interest on same, or a total of approximately $49,000, those same Clearfield county taxpayers are asked to pay into the county treasury approximately $51,071 annually.

Wednesday, March 29, 1922, is triennial appeal day for Clearfield borough, the valuations fixed following that hearing will stand for the coming three years.

member of their own party than that administered to A. Mitchell Palmer by Senator Walsh of Montana. The rebuke is contained in a report to the Senate Judiciary Committee. It groys out of the findings of "the twelve lawyers" headed by Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School in their investigation of the "Red raids."

Senator Walsh, who is by common consent one of the very ablest constitutional lawyers in the Senate, finds that the proceedings of the Department of Justice were "an unmitigated outrage." They denied the most "sacred and inviolable" rights guaranteed under the Constitution, and "the dictates of enlightened humanity were no less ruthlessly disregarded." The deporting proceedings as conducted by Mr. Palmer's department were a "deliberate usurpation." Constitutional rights were "recklessly denied."

greater progress. That is the justification of public funds. The only justification for this expenditure is that they contribute to the benefit of the people as a whole and not to one class of the people only. I say this because of the fact that this while it is directly for the farmers, yet it is indirectly as helpful to the business men and to industry generally, because if industry is not fed, and if agriculture does not prosper, business necessarily stagnates. One other thing, and that is the greatness of Pennsylvania agriculture. Few of us appreciate that Penna. is a great agricultural State. Some people think it is a coal state, as a state of iron steel, etc., and not in terms of agriculture.

It is of interest to increase production, and to increase production in such a way that the consumer gets a lower price, and the producer, a larger net return. It is work upon this very question that the Extension Service is interested in doing.

The method of organizing this work is about this: In every county of the State there is located a man known as the County Agent. Mr. Sterrett occupies that position here. These men become acquainted personally in order to assist the farmers with their problems. These men, and I might say it is necessary to have an organization of the organization, because he accomplishes very little by themselves. The people themselves must take an active part, so that this organization is known as the County Farm Bureau and there are 63 bureaus in operation in this State, under the same plan in your county. These men are backed by specialists. A few specialists at the college, who assist these men to put over particular phases of work in which their people are interested.

Mr. McDowell's address will appear in The Progress tomorrow.

With the approach of an election it is time for clear thinking and clear judgment. All kinds of defamatory statements are made in the heat of a campaign and, unfortunately, it is rare indeed that the originator of these statements will stand up to them, yet the rumors persist and are given credence by a large number of people. It is surprising how many of us want to believe the worst about a man, or a woman, thus indicating that we prefer to kick one into the gutter instead of lifting him up. The most recent story, that reflecting on the integrity of Senator Crow, Mr. John A. Bell, and others, implying that Mr. Bell was to pay a sum said to be $650,000, for the U. S. Senatorial nomination, is given publication in this column only for the purpose of showing the lengths to which some politicians will go to hurt an opponent and to bring it within the scope of this article. Fortunately this ridiculous story is one of those that can be denied in a dignified manner without an implication of guilt. There are other stories, ugly character-besmirching yarns which are whispered through fear of a demand for the proof. Let us have the truth. Shout it to the housetops. But swat the whisperer of scandal who cannot give any proof.

Council, on the urgent solicitation of the business men along Second and Market streets, and other citizens interested in the affairs of the city, has decided to defer its plans for resurfacing these streets at this time. No one can deny that these streets need attention but there is a very well defined opinion that nothing should be done until permanent repairs can be made and the streets widened so as to do away with the traffic congestion at the corner. Council met the committees last evening and the condition of the borough finances was explained in detail. It is to be hoped that a way can be found in the near future for these permanent improvements that are so much needed. Meanwhile the people are willing to wait until a permanent job can be done.

Some express surprise that the Commercial Club and business men in general should pay so much attention to agricultural and livestock matters, but there is a very good reason for this. Farming has come to be a recognized business and the farming industry is a very vital factor in the community life. It is recognized that it will be a greater factor in the future. While our mines, our factories and our clay products have a long life ahead of them, there are periods of depression which can be helped very much by a healthy condition on the farms. Looking at it from the other angle, the greater our industrial development, the greater our need of food. From still another, thousands of acres of idle land must be brought into productivity, either with grains or with livestock.

How Steam Behaves

Observation of a boiling teakettle impresses the fact that "steam rises" without any apparent force behind it. This is nature's gift to the science of heating.

Steam flows through the piping system with little, if any, pressure behind it. The uniform, even and always ready heat from a steam boiler is accounted for in this scientifically established fact. Which is only one of many reasons why "Heat by Radiators" is the most satisfactory, convenient and economical.

"I told him there wasn't. It's very singular to me, and to all of us, as it is to you," I threw in. The editor smoked on for a full minute without saying anything more, and he seemed to be staring absentmindedly at a steamship picture on the wall. When he got good and ready, he began again.

"You don't need any common plain-clothes man on this job, Jimmie; you need the best there is: a real, dyed-in-the-wool Sherlock Holmes, if there ever were such a miracle."

"You think it is a case for a detective?"

"I do," he replied, looking straight at me with his mild blue eyes. "If I were one of Mr. Norcross's close friends I should get the best help that could be found and not lose a single minute about it."

Since there was nobody around who was any closer to the boss than I was, I jumped into the hole pretty quick.

"Can you tell us anything that will help, Mr. Cantrell?" I asked.

"Not specifically, I wish I could. But I can say this: I know Mr. Rufus Hatch and his associates up one side and down the other. They are hand-in-glove with the political bosses who control this state. From the little that has leaked out, and the great deal that has been published in the Hatch-controlled newspapers all over the state during the past few weeks, it is apparent that Mr. Norcross's removal was a thing greatly to be desired, not only by the Red Tower people, but also by the political bosses. That ought to be enough to make all of you suspicious—very suspicious, Jimmie."

The tall editor got up and made ready to go. "If I were in your place, or rather in Mr. Van Britt's, I'd get an expert on this job—and I shouldn't let much grass grow under my feet while I was about it. Call me up at the Mountaineer office if I can help. And with that he went away."

It was just a little while after this that I put on my hat and strolled across the yard tracks to Kirgan's office in the shops. Kirgan was an old friend, as you might say; he had been on the Oregon building job with us and knew the boss through and through. I didn't have anything special to say, but I kind of wanted to talk to somebody who knew. "So I loafed in on Kirgan."

He loved the boss like a brother. As soon as I came in, he fired his kid stenographer on some errand or other, and made me sit down and tell him all I knew. When I got through he was pulling at his long mustache and wrinkling his nose as I've seen a bulldog do when he was getting ready to bite something.

"You haven't got all the drop-out business cornered over yonder in the general office, Jimmie," he said slowly, tilting back in his swing-chair and glowering at me with those sultry eyes of his. "On that same night that you're talkin' about, I stand to lose one perfectly good Atlantic-type locomotive. At ten o'clock she was set in on the spur below the coal chutes. At twelve o'clock, when the round-house watchman went down there to see if her fire was banked all right, she was gone."

"I've Sifted This Blame Outfit Through an Eighty-Mesh Screen."

"I can't figure it out any better than you can," I confessed. "Mr. Norcross is gone, and the Ten-Sixteen is gone, and they both dropped out between ten and twelve o'clock on the same night. Mart, I don't believe Mr. Norcross went east at all! I believe, when we find that engine, we'll find him!"

Kirgan got out of his chair and began to walk up and down in the little space between his desk and the drawing-board. Besides being the best boss mechanic in the West, he was a first-class fighting man, with a clear head and nerve to burn. When he had got as far as he could go alone he turned on me.

"Jimmie, do you reckon this Red Tower outfit was far enough along in its scrap with the boss to put up a job to pass him out of the game?" he demanded.

I told him it didn't seem to fit into any twentieth-century scheme of things, and past that I mentioned the fact that the Hatch people had taken the back track and were now offering to sell out and stop choking the wheels of reform.

"I know," he put in. "But I've been readin' the papers, Jimmie, and it ain't all Red Tower, not by a jugful. The big graft in this neck-a woods is political, and the Red Tower gang is only set-a-cogs in the bull-wheel. Mr. Norcross was gettin' himself mighty pointedly disliked; you know that. The way he was aimin' to run things, it was beginnin' to look as if maybe the people of this state might wake up some day and turn in and help him."

"I know all about that," I threw in. "But where are you trying to land, Mart?"

"Right here. Mr. Norcross was the whole show. Take him out of it and the whole shootin'-match would fall to pieces—as it's doin', right now. They didn't need to slug him or shoot him up or anything like that; if it could be made to look as if he'd jumped the job, quit, chucked it all up, why, there you are. A new boss would be sent out here, and you could bet your sweet life he wouldn't be anybody like Mr. Norcross. Not so you could notice it. The New York people would take blamed good care-a that."

"You think the Dunton people are standing in with the graft?"

"Nobody could've grabbed off the motive-power job on this railroad, as I did, Jimmie, and not think it—and be d—n sure of it. Why, Lord o' Heavens, the Red Tower bunch was asin' us just the same as if we belonged to 'em—orderin' our men to do their machinery repairs, helpin' themselves to any railroad material that they happened to need, usin' our cars and engines on their loggin' roads and mine branches."

"You stopped all this?"

"You bet I did—between two days! They've been makin' seventeen different kinds of a roar ever since, but I've had Mr. Van Britt and the big boss behind me, so I just shoved ahead."

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

"An engine—even a little old Atlantic-type—is a pretty big thing to lose, isn't it, Kirgan?" I asked.

Kirgan righted his chair with a crash.

"Jimmie, I've sifted this blamed outfit through an eighty-mesh screen!" he growled. "With all the devil-to-pay that's goin' on over at the head-quarters, I didn't want to bother Mr. Van Britt, and I haven't been advertisin' in the newspapers. But it's a holy fact, Jimmie. The 'Sixteen's gone!"

I was trying to pry myself loose from the notion that the loss of the engine and the boss's disappearance at about the same time were in some way connected with each other. It was no use, the idea refused to let go.

"Look here, Kirgan," I shoved in. "Can you think of any possible reason why Mr. Norcross should write Mr.

standard of the values that have been offered by the merchants in general who have gone into this event with all their energy. But particularly at this store do we make an event of Dollar Day. It has been one infallible rule, not to make it a clearance event, but through out buying connections to make many special purchases especially for the day.

It is the giving of genuine values and being careful not to overstate the original values of merchandise that has given this store a standard which we are ever trying to raise. This Spring event, which comes next Friday, will be no exception to our rule. For months have our buyers been on the lookout for merchandise that would fit into our scheme of giving Clearfield people wonderful bargains for Dollar Day. And we are sure that when the day dawns the people of this city and the folks who come in from the surrounding country will find a galaxy of offerings that have all the earmarks of wonderful values that are just a shade better than anything that has been offered them before.

"Y" OPENING WILL BE MEMORABLE EVENT HERE THURSDAY

Plans for the formal opening of the newly remodeled and rebuilt Y M C A building are well underway and a real big time is in the making. The new building will be formally thrown open for public inspection Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock and "open house" will be maintained until 10 p. m.

In order that every thing may be put in shape for the opening the Y will be closed from noon today until Thursday afternoon at 3.

The new building will be a revelation to those who have not been through it since the work of remodeling and rebuilding was begun.

Great Antiseptic Ointment Called San Cura that Your Local Druggist Sells on Money-back Plan.

"Arm badly scalded with steam," writes Gilbert Hard of Bonard's Mills, Ohio, "8 in. San Cura Ointment relieved the pain at once and arm healed rapidly. It is a wonderful ointment."

Here's another: Ellis W. Frankentown, Titusville, Pa., broke his leg; was in bed six months; discharged from hospital as incurable; was five years on crutches, while opening in leg continued to discharge pus; suffered terrible pain; San Cura Ointment drew out poisonous pus and many pieces of bone, now perfectly healthy; sore healed, and weight increased from 86 to 121 pounds.

San Cura Ointment is such a marvelous healing antiseptic ointment that it is sold on money-back plan.

It relieves itching skin, tetter, eczema, salt rheum, old-running and fever sores, ulcers, boils, carbuncles, sore nipples, piles, frost-bite, chilblains, catarrh and chapped skin.

ANOTHER CUP, PLEASE?

The housewife knows her coffee is good when the cups are passed back for a second filling. No man asks for a second cup of poor coffee.

Our coffee importers and packers spend a good deal of time in studying the blends of coffee.

Our blend of Mocha and Java is a blend of the real beans. Every ounce of Mocha coffee is imported direct from Arabia and the Java from the Dutch East Indies. The finest coffee in the world comes from these countries.

There is a so-called Mocha and Java on the market cheaper than ours but it comes from Brazil.

Whipping Ended Romance. This little episode in my life occurred when I was but six years of age. A neighbor's boy, Jack, and I loved each other. All was settled between us that we should get married and start housekeeping in our coat house, which was not used during the summer. We had to furnish our house first. All went on well until our parents began missing things—fishes, etc. A whipping apiece and our romance ended.—Chicago Journal.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow skin, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

The Valley of the Giants

By PETER B. KYNE

Scenario by Marion Fairfax

Directed by James Cruze

A rugged tale of the redwood slopes, of giants of the forest, of giants among men. In the vast scarred regions of the West, a simple world of love and sentiment meets a cruel world of money and power.

Then the grim clash of the lumber camps, with no quarter asked and no mercy given!

A picture of majestic power, of blood-stirring conflict, of tender appeal to the heart. Three days only!

VARIETY DUO WILL ENTERTAIN AT HIGH SCHOOL WED. NIGHT

Through years of experience in both Lyceum and Chautauque, the Columbus Entertainers are prepared to satisfy Redpath patrons. They have toured as a duo, and as featured members of larger companies.

Starting in Chicago as members of the Dearborn Concert Party, Misses Baughman and Hoover, met with instant favor and later were chosen as specialty artists for other companies. They filled a 30-weeks' Lyceum season for the Redpath-Owner Bureau, with the Sterling Entertainers. For two seasons they were with the Althea Players for the Redpath-Vawter Chautauques. Miss Hoover directed this company. On the Redpath-Horner Premier circuit they were featured with the Baldy Strang Company. One of their most successful experiences was on a Canadian tour with the Ladies Festival Orchestra.

By careful study with experts, these young women laid an excellent foundation for their professional careers. Miss Bauman studied saxophone, piano and voice in the Cincinnati College of Music, and graduated from the department of dramatic art in that institution.

Miss Hoover is a violin graduate from the Bradley Conservatory of Music, Peoria, Illinois. While her violin music caters to popular preference, at the same time she is able to present numbers from master composers, such as DeBeriot, Mendelssohn, Sarasate and Nacche. Kreisler numbers are special favorites with Miss Hoover.

Aside from their musical numbers, the Columbus Entertainers add variety to their program by Miss Baughman's introduction of character studies. One of her most successful offerings is a home town story "When the Train Comes In" Another of her specialties is "Silly Boy," which is aided by a bit of make-up. Stories in Italian and Negro dialect are given, and poems are read from such favorites as James Whitcomb Riley, Edgar A. Guest and Robert W. Service.
